

Abstract of the Disclosure (for U.S. application)

A biochemical vessel has a plurality of sample holding cells juxtaposed one next to another. Each cell has a light transparent bottom.

- 5 Each sample holding cell includes, in its inner side, a light reflecting face which extends radially away from the axis of the cell as the reflecting face extends downwards.